Re: August 1, 2010 Transition of PEG Channels to Digital

Dear Mr. Wasson;

This letter is to give the Town of Bay Harbor a reminder (prior reference letter dated March 8th, 2010) that, effective August 1, 2010, Atlantic Broadband will be transitioning all public, educational and governmental ("PEG") channels in our cable system to our lowest tier of digital service. The transition of these channels is part of an overall transition of our cable television system to a digital format, providing better picture quality and allowing us to provide High Definition and other broadband services that our customers demand. The affected channels are:

- 76 Miami-Dade Television
- 77 Local Municipal Access
- 78 CableTAP Community – CTAPC
- 79 CableTAP Learning - CTAPL

Our Limited and Value Video customers do not need to change their level of service to continue watching these channels however, additional equipment may be necessary unless they have a TV set with a digital tuner already built in. For customers with Atlantic Broadband provided Digital equipment there will be no change in channel location and no action is required.

Customers using TVs equipped with integrated digital tuners will find these channels at the following locations as of August 1st:

29.76 Miami-Dade Television

Local Municipal Access:

29.78 CableTAP Community – CTAPC

29.79 CableTAP Learning – CTAPL

For the minority of our customers who do not subscribe to a digital service or who do not have a digital television set and who want to view the PEG channels, we are offering special converters so that they can continue to view these channels as of August 1st. Atlantic Broadband will make these converters available for $1.00 per month beginning in mid-July, 2010. Customers may contact us at 888-752-4222 for more information or to secure a new converter.

We are making every effort to ensure that there is a smooth transition. We initially notified customers of this change beginning in March and have continued to communicate with them throughout the past few months. Our final customer notification in advance of this transition begins June 22 and will continue through July 21.

Please feel free to call me at 305-861-8069 ext.5101 if you have any additional questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Jim Waldo
